Will Cement Bottom of Jordan River

Has Become Necessary to Prevent Erosion of Bank and Undermining of Buildings at Big Pumping Plant.

Sylvester Q. Cannon, of Salt Lake City was in Lehi Saturday consulting with W. A. Knight regarding some improvements which the Associated Canal companies will make at the big Jordan River pumping plant this winter. Chief among the improvements will be the concrete floor that will be made in the bottom of Jordan River immediately below the pumps. It will be about 100 feet wide and extend down the river nearly 200 feet. Besides this, there will be a retaining wall on the west bank of the river.

The immense stream that passes through the pumps has dug a channel sixteen feet deep in the river and undermined the west bank so as to endanger the brick building. To remedy this danger and prevent any further erosion it will be necessary to put a cement bottom in the river where the water is the most turbulent.

In order to do this Manager Knight will have to build a coffer dam with thousands of bags of sand to shut the water out while the men are putting in the concrete. The cement wall that has been undermined will be broken up and thrown in the deep hole. Besides this there will be many tons of cobble rock thrown in, to be used as a base for the floor. It will be a big job, and furnish a lot of employment for Lehi people.

WILL INSTALL A PRIVATE PUMPING PLANT

George W. Barth, who owns a tract of land north of Mosida, unloaded 1200 feet of 10-inch wood stave pipe at Lehi and hauled it to his ranch this week. He will install a private pumping plant, thinking this more economical than being in a company plant. This makes at least ten pumping plants now located on the west shore of Utah Lake.

Lehi People Mining In North Tintic

Utah-Oregon, North Scranton and Scranton Extension Properties to Be Developed.

Last Monday George Beck Sr., Charles Johnson, Victor Larson and Archie Beck left for Del Monte, where they will resume work on the Scranton Extension tunnel, already in the hill over 400 feet. While two will work in the face of the tunnel the other two will drift on the zinc, where some good values in zinc were reported just before work was suspended last spring. This promising property adjoins the big Scranton mine.

The directors of the Utah-Oregon, a Lehi corporation, held a meeting Tuesday evening and voted to extend the tunnel under the big iron blow-out that shows so prominently on the surface. The tunnel is now in 315 feet with 15 feet farther to go to reach perpendicular under the blow-out. The face of the tunnel will then be 170 feet from the surface. This is the property originally worked by Billie Ball and John A. Kerbey. W. A. Evans was awarded the contract to extend the tunnel and will leave next week with a force of miners.

Alex Adams and Chris Anderson are doing the development work on the North Scranton property owned by Lehi people, and adjoining the Scranton Extension on the north. Excellent values in lead and silver and some zinc have been found on this property. The miners are now following a promising lead and think the ore body is not far distant.

Four Returned Missionaries Arrive This Week

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Allred Arrive from New Zealand, Lynn Clark from the Northwest and Willes Schow from the Northern States.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Allred returned this week from New Zealand, where they spent the past three years doing missionary work. They were accompanied by Mrs. James Allred, who met them at San Francisco after she had spent a month visiting relatives in southern California. Mr. and Mrs. Allred brought home two children born to them in the South Sea islands.

Mr. Allred's work lay chiefly in the establishing and operating of an agricultural college for the church on a 260-acre tract. The school was attended chiefly by the young natives, who showed an aptitude both in the school and on the farm. As the seasons are just opposite those here, New Zealand is enjoying summer and the schools are having their summer vacation.

New Zealand is as far south of the equator as Utah is north, and is only a little larger than this state in area. Because of its lying surrounded by the sea, it has an abundance of rainfall, and the country is covered with verdure and forests. Last season, however, was an exception, and their crops were almost a total failure because of the drought. Sheep and wool are the chief articles of export, though timber mining and farming are growing industries.

New Zealand furnished many men for the European war, though the war spirit is cooling off now. One little town, about half the size of Lehi, sent nineteen young men to Europe. Recent reports showed that eighteen of them were killed in battle and the other one was injured. The German residents have all been placed on one island. Of the 157 passengers that came to America on the boat that carried the Allreds one-third were young New Zealanders who left their country to escape conscription.

Willes Schow, who has been doing missionary work in the northern states under President G. E. Elewirth, returned feeling fine and having enjoyed his missionary labors.

Lynn Clark arrived home Sunday evening from the northwestern states, where he has been laboring since October 2, 1913. He commenced his labors in Portland. Since then he has labored in Washington, Idaho and Montana. His last labors were in Anacoda, where the Latter-Day Saints have a flourishing branch. He is feeling fine, looking fine and much increased in avoirdupois.

Last Session of Present Council

Application for Pool License a Legacy for Settlement by New Council.

A letter from Mayor Decker of Provo announcing the annual convention of the State Municipal League at Provo, January 18, 20, was read and the annual dues were voted to be sent to the secretary.

An application for a license to operate billiard and pool tables in the Racker building on Main street was made by Messrs. William J. Gurney and T. G. Webb. The matter was tabled, to come up at the meeting next month.

A motion was carried that the city librarian be sent to the coming meeting of the librarians of the state and that the city pay her expenses.

The question of doing development work at the springs was discussed and the sentiment was unanimous that the work should be done this winter. The opinion was also unanimous that, with the proper work, the present supply could be doubled.

The report of the fire department for the past six months was read, showing attendance at the following fires: Brush fire, Lehi Junction, Aug. 1; John Bradshaw's, Aug. 2; W. A. Wilson, Aug. 10; Ole Peterson, Aug. 12; J. B. Smuin, Aug. 17, and Peter Larson, Aug. 27.

A motion was carried that the note of Mrs. Susie Lewis for $2000 be paid off.

WEDDING BELLS.

Miss Nita Hammer and Mr. Fred Gaines were married in Salt Lake City last Friday. They are now comfortably located in their home in Bingham Canyon, where they will reside.

Mrs. R. S. Garrity and Joseph De Freis of American Fork went to Farmington, Utah's Gretna Green, last week, where they secured a marriage license and were united in matrimony.

Mrs. Maggie Bushman Carr was married in the Salt Lake Temple Wednesday by Byron Beck. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Bushman Sr. The groom is a son of Christian Beck of American Fork.

MOSIDA PROJECT GOES UNDER THE HAMMER

A receiver's sale is being advertised for the Mosida Lauda project. On January 15 it will be sold to the highest bidder. The assets are estimated at $500,000, and consist of 7200 acres of land, a pumping plant and pipe line, a modern 26-room hotel, a town-site and a lot of farm implements.

Over 2000 acres of land have already been sold, carrying with them an interest in the pumping plant. It is thought that with the sale Mosida will take on new life and develop more rapidly than ever. It is a great place for sugar beets and alfalfa.

OUTLOOK FOR DRY GRAIN.

Dry farmers are wondering what will be the outcome. Some of them got their wheat up and looking fine, but most of the grain was either planted late or the ground was too dry to sprout it when planted early. This has now sprouted and some of it is just coming through. Their question is, will the winter freezing kill this that has not yet come through? Those best posted say that it will come all right in the spring, and if the moisture is sufficient, will make a good crop.

INGALLS MOVING TO SALT LAKE.

Mr. M. W. Ingalls, for twenty-three years the chief engineer of the Lehi sugar factory, has been transferred to the Salt Lake office, where he can better assist in directing the building of the new sugar factories now being erected. He will make his home in Salt Lake and move his family there, as soon as the physicians consider it safe to move Mrs. Ingalls.

Mr. Ingalls' leaving Lehi is a distinct loss to this city. Gentle, progressive and enterprising, he has been a positive asset for good to this community for twenty-five years. During this time he has done more than any other citizen for good, clean, legitimate amusement, particularly be-

SCRAPPY LEHI FIVE LOSES TO WEST HIGH

The West Side high school basketball team of Salt Lake defeated Lehi in a fast game last Friday night. Lehi put up a scrappy game, but the big Salt Lake center, Johnson, was too much for them. The first half ended with Salt Lake 6 ahead. Lehi did some fine work in the second half and made the same score, the game ending 30 to 24.

The Salt Lake five had several advantages. They were larger men, they had toughened up by playing football and they were the same team that played in the state tournament last year.
